

Gen. MacArthur Is Delving Into Jap 'Incidents'

TOKYO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered a searching inquiry today designed to lay bare full details of "incidents" used by Japan to launch and expand her war of aggression in the far east.

The allied supreme commander issued a directive to the Japanese government to submit full documentary details on six of the "major notorious incidents" dating back as far as 1932 when Manchuria was invaded.

Full information, including police reports, was demanded on the army "patches" of February 25, 1938 and the July, 1940, plot to assassinate Premier Yonai and Imperial Household Minister Satsudara.

At the same time Gen. MacArthur cracked down on activities of Axis diplomats in Japan who have moved about with comparative freedom ever since occupation of the defeated country got under way.

A directive from supreme allied headquarters ordered the diplomats and other Axis nationals restricted to the areas in which they are living and that they be maintained on the standard Japanese ration system.

Arrest of eight war crimes suspects was ordered including a major who commanded the area of Dutch Borneo, and seven prison camp officials accused of atrocities.

Other disclosures in the summary of Navy inquiries included:

1. Admiral Kimmel assumed responsibility for failing to order naval reconnaissance planes into the air before the Jap attack on Dec. 7, 1941.

2. Kimmel as early as Oct. 14, 1941 believed Japan would precede a declaration of war with a "surprise attack on ships in Pearl Harbor" but viewed an air raid as only a possibility.

3. Stark told investigators that "the one regret I have" is that he did not telephone a flash warning to Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. Stark asked Mac to include the Navy in the Army's last-minute warning—which arrived by commercial communications after the attack.

4. Kimmel told both Stark and the president in June, 1941 that the "only real answer" to an air attack on Pearl Harbor was "not to have the fleet in port if and when an attack came." He did not, however, recommend removing the fleet from Pearl Harbor as did his predecessor, Admiral James O. Richardson.

5. Disagreement between Kimmel and Gen. Walter C. Short, Army Hawaiian commander, blocked a plan to relieve marines on Wake Island with Army units in late November, 1941.

5.—Acquisition by San Francisco police of a post card mailed by Cline from Jacksonville, Fla., to a Bay area family November 9, 1943, time and place of another sudden death that of Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis of Oakland, Cal.

Expect Action

Portland, Ore. is expected to proceed against Cline for the most recent death, that of Mrs. Isabel Van Natta, San Francisco widow, last November 29.

As reconstructed by Brown, "Cline killed four persons between 1931 and 1944." A fifth survived and Cline was convicted of "drugging and robbing" and sent to Folsom, Cal. prison.

Brown gives his chronology:

First in 1943, Cline wooed and won Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis, of Oakland, married her in Reno and took her to Jacksonville, Fla. There, late in 1943, on orders of "F. L. Klein," a woman who died suddenly was cremated as "Mrs. Elizabeth Hannah Klein." But A. L. Cline claimed her property.

In Florida for the winter, Cline met Mrs. Alice Carpenter, of Bloomington, Ind. Brown said they registered at the Legner hotel in Marion, Ga. as "F. L. Klein" and "Alma Willis Carter," whose initials coincide with those of Alice W. Carpenter.

Shortly thereafter, she died and was cremated.

Cline, in Brown's reconstruction, then met and married Eva Delora Krebs in Chicago in October, 1944, a woman died in Dallas, Tex., and was cremated, on Cline's order, as Alice W. Carpenter.

This woman, Brown said, was Mrs. Krebs.

Brown continued: "Cline came to San Francisco picked up Mrs. Van Natta, a poor pensioner with few to miss her, and took her to Portland."

Then, "the district attorney charged, 'Cline killed her and passed her off to relatives and the crematory as Mrs. Krebs.'"

RADNOR — When 28-year-old Luke Council returned home after being discharged from the army police presented him with a bullet hole of whiskey. It was the same bullet that had been stolen from his car in July, 1943, when it came on roughshod. Police had nabbed the thief after he returned to his home.

Railroads Ask Mediation

The railroads after long conferences in Chicago with 20 brotherhoods and unions gave up and asked the National Mediation board to intervene.

The carriers committee in the conferences represented 130 Class I American railroads and the unions approximately 1,000,000 operating and non-operating workers.

The railroads estimated that the unions' wage increase and rule change demands would cost the railroads 2 billion dollars annually. The immediate issue to be settled before the negotiators may take up the wage issue is the rule changes demanded by two of the big operating unions.

The King Report

Admiral King's final report as chief of naval operations contains much material that will reward study by Americans concerned about the future organization of the armed forces—and every citizen should be interested in this important subject. Even though most of the information in this document is not new, it appears here in considerable detail along with conclusions that must be given weight.

The report, for example, pictures the tremendous scope of the task that had to be accomplished in order to bring the nation's strength to bear on the Japanese. It was necessary to build 400 naval bases in the Pacific, where there were two before the war to drive home the attack. At the end of the war 152 floating drydocks were in use, compared to two before the war, and in the closing months 600,000 tons of material was being shipped each month to American fighting forces in the Pacific.

Admiral King stresses the importance of the air arm and the submarine in the operations against the Japanese. He points out, moreover, that in laying plans for the Navy of the future it is necessary to have a fleet not merely strong enough to defeat an enemy fleet, or combination of fleets, but strong enough to support operations on land.

But it is on the subject of unification of the armed forces that this report will command most attention, for Admiral King declares that while unity of command in the field is essential, the creation of a single department of the armed forces would be ill-advised and impracticable. His argument is that no one man could handle the job of supreme commander and he insists that the records of the joint chiefs of staff will show that group decisions are superior to individual judgments.

The Atomic Future

Whatever else atomic energy can do for good or ill, it is apparently not going to have much effect on the American domestic scene. The energy in the atom can and will be put to commercial use. Scientists guess that this will take anywhere from three to twenty years. But it is going to be a long, long time, it ever, before atomic-powered automobiles and airplanes which will run indefinitely on a pea-sized pellet of uranium are produced.

There is one apparently insuperable difficulty in the way of using atomic energy in such motors and machines. It is the deadly and powerful radiation given off by the uranium piles. The massive plants at Hanford and Oak Ridge have had to be built in a manner to protect the workers from the effects of these radiations.

According to physicists, it takes fifty tons of protective material to shield a 100-horsepower atomic power plant. At that rate there is not much likelihood that atom power will compete with gasoline engines as a means of running automobiles in the foreseeable future.

The point at which the new discoveries are apt to prove most immediately useful to man is in the field of medicine. For the past two years research has been under way at the University of Rochester not only to devise means of protecting workers from radiations emitted by uranium piles but to investigate the possible curative power of the rays. The possibility is foreseen that new and unbelievably effective weapons against cancer and other diseases may be developed.

More research has provided mankind with its most horrible weapon of destruction. It is worth remembering that the discovery has its constructive and beneficial side even though it is unlikely to revolutionize domestic, peacetime life.

Don't Let Accidents Mar Holidays

Motorists and pedestrians throughout the state were asked today by former Senator Andrew J. Sordani, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, to join the organization and its 61 affiliated AAA clubs in a campaign to prevent accidents during the Christmas and New Year's holiday seasons.

The coming holiday season will be the most happy and joyful we've enjoyed since before the war, and to mar it with motorist accidents, either in injuries or fatalities, would bring unnecessary heart-break.

Citing the increasing vehicle accident rate, the automobile organization official urged both motorists and pedestrians to exercise utmost care.

Motorists can help by driving with care and courtesy. Pedestrians can contribute their share by paying close attention to traffic conditions. If both pedestrian and motorist abide by traffic rules and regulations, the accident rate for the coming holiday season can be kept to a minimum.

This will be our first peace-time Christmas and New Year's in four years. To many the holidays will have an added significance, especially in those homes in which families will be reunited for the first since the war began.

Let's drive safe, let's walk safe. In this way we can be sure that vehicle accidents will not be the cause of robbing any family of the happiest holiday season they have enjoyed in years.

Japs who formerly placed great emphasis on saving face now are more concerned about saving neck.

A number of federal bureaus are about to be abolished which means that the remaining bureaus will have to be enlarged to accommodate those which have been eliminated.

And that calls for another bureau to handle the details.

But reorganization of the federal government never will be a success until the income tax department and the mint are merged, eliminating the middle man.

The tax collector is always screaming for fresh financial cabbage and the mint has it so what are we doing in the middle?

Under my system the tax collector would announce each morning how much he needed and the director of the mint would dump it on a truck and shoot it over there.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Housing Situation In Nation Desperate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—When members of congress went home on holiday last summer, they heard a never-ending clamor from fathers and mothers about bringing the boys home. It was so insistent that some congressmen sought refuge back in Washington or in remote vacation retreats.

This time when they go home for the brief Christmas recess, they will hear from the returned veterans themselves. The question of a place for fighting men and their families to live is the hottest issue in the country and it is still only in the warming-up stage.

It explains why the Truman administration has hastily backtracked to apply controls on building materials again. These and other controls were taken off too heedlessly in response to pressure lobbyists.

Hasty Action
It explains the senate's hasty action in voting $160,000,000 to be used to adapt emergency wartime housing for the veterans in cities and college towns. Made-over barracks will not be ideal by any means but some such makeshift is necessary for the months ahead.

Reports reaching OPA show that in almost every city and town across the entire country the situation is the same. They show, too, that the talk of self-discipline put out by the building industry to justify removal of controls was largely nonsense.

A study of OPA reports make plain what a grim story it is. Thousands of families have been evicted. Hundreds of thousands are living in cellars and garages which are damp and unsanitary.

The headlines from city to city are monotonously repetitions. They tell human interest stories of veterans returned from two, three and four years of service to find that they must live separately from their wives and children doubling up with in-laws who are already crowded.

Desperate Situation
In each community they are casting about desperately for some expedient. At Great Lakes ports they have sought lake steamers for use at dockside during the winter months.

Veterans seeking shelter for wives and children often grow desperate. One former officer in an Illinois city after 12 days of futile search, worked himself into a frenzy and began to smash the furniture in the local veterans advisory office. Yet without, they are remarkably patient.

The vacancy rate on rented dwellings, perhaps the best barometer of the housing shortage, has moved downward in most cities, almost to zero. The contrast with 1940 when the crowding had just begun is striking.

In San Francisco the gross vacancy rate five years ago was nearly 7 per cent. In May of this year it was 1 per cent and it is probably less than that today. In Detroit it was 3.2 in 1940 and less than 1 per cent in July of this year. The percentages for 1945 are deep in the red in the cities which do exist are largely sub-standard dwellings.

Small Building Boom
V-J Day released a small building boom. But it is not in houses or apartments. Lansing, Michigan, for example, reported $1,000,000 of new construction and exactly three $6,000 houses going up. The construction was industrial and commercial. That is fairly typical of what is happening around the country.

One consequence is that the price of houses has been soaring. Confidential reports to OPA show that in many areas a speculative boom in full size and semi-detached houses once sold for $4500 are bringing up to $9500.

In one community housing units built during the last war-years for sale purposes were sold under order L-41, limiting the cost of new houses at a fair price. They are now bringing half again as much in a speculative market.

Some veterans who can find the down payment are buying this inflated property. It is a measure of their desperation.

But the possibilities of law and order dissolution are plentiful especially when the veteran makes the discovery that loan privileges under the GI Bill of Rights are worthless in the face of such inflation. Multiplied many times over this disillusion can have serious political consequences.

These grim facts of life are certain to intrude on the holiday cheer of many a congressman. The idea of going back into a barracks again even though it has been reassigned into family type units will not appeal to GI Joe and if he can find somebody from Washington to tell him troubles to be, he'll do it.

But he will take that barracks if it comes down to a choice of that or more separation from the family he returned to with the war's end.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDLES

In London a charge against Sir Oswald Mosley, former British Fascist leader, accusing him of causing unnecessary suffering to some pigs by failing to provide adequate feeding and suitable accommodation, was dismissed by His Majesty's Magistrates, but the Chairman of the Bench expressed the view that Sir Oswald should have been aware of the state of the pigs and should see to it that in future they are better fed and better housed.

I fully agree with the honorable Chairman of the Bench, and I furthermore suggest that the loving concern expressed in behalf of Sir Oswald's pigs, might also, in small measure, be applied to human beings.

Any one of you who lives in any big city or good-sized town, or who has visited one of those communities, will agree with me that there are many slum districts all over the land that look no better than Sir Oswald's pig sties and in which the inhabitants are no better housed or fed than his pigs.

Why is it that we worry so much about pigs and cats and dogs and a little about our own kind?

Why do we cry over and collect funds for the heathens of Timbuctoo and the underclothed Zulus and permit conditions in our own country that would make a self-respecting Zulu sneer at us in contempt?

I have been in New York now for several weeks, away from my lovely little village of Brookfield, and I have done a lot of strolling and meandering and looking.

And many of the things I have seen actually nauseate me. Dirt and filth and poverty right in the midst of health and plenty. Homes unspeakably ugly and rundown within a block of a swanky apartment house with doorman and lawning lawns.

The other evening I watched a Street Cleaning Department truck from my hotel window.

Slam bang, went the garbage can into the truck—orange peels, potato skins, wastepaper and filthy rag came sprawling out and the wind blew them in all directions.

Did the street cleaners make any attempt to gather up the mess? They certainly didn't. With a final slam and a final bang they hurled the garbage can back to the front of the building and gaily sang: "O sole mio," they rolled on with their screaming to their next destination.

And pretty soon I saw a little boy not more than five years old, slink out of a side street, pick up one of the orange halves and quietly suck it, as he looked where he had come from.

Yes, indeed, I am frightfully sorry for Sir Oswald's pigs, but I am equally sorry for the boys and the bees and the hamsters of West Africa and Zambos about which so many of us are so much concerned.

But I am thoroughly ashamed of me and the poor of this rich country of ours in which the cruel capitalists even pay their poor workers enough to have taxicab fares to every garage.

She loved the Christmas season so! The holy and the mistletoe: The children's laughter, and the ring.

Of dobell and the caroling. The Christ Child in the stable bare. The Star of Bethlehem shining there.

The cold and rankincense and myrrh. Which presents of the Wise Men were. The stocking as the chimney hung. And all the gifts for old and young.

She loved the joys of Christmas Eve! The rich of children who believe. In Santa Claus and go to bed. With dreams of reindeer overhead.

And dolls and sleds and horns and drums. They're wanted for "Til Christmas comes!" She loved the cards which friends ship send.

The love which Christmas-time attends. And off she said: "If I'm away. Let nothing spoil their Christmas Day."

"Be sure these things you do for me. Get ornaments to trim the tree. With wreath and ribbon deck each wall. Hang mistletoe inside the hall."

Remember pile 'til sideboard high. With figs and raisins cake and pie. Sing all the carols as of old. Tell all the Christmas tales I've told.

And don't, because I've gone away. Let sadness spoil the Christmas Day." (Copyright, 1945, Edgar A. Guest)

Truman's Reconversion Program Faces Snag
Congress Shows Its Independence On Bills
Labor's Influence Hits All Time Low Ebb

By HELEN ESSARY

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—President Truman's reconversion program for labor faces a prospective zero rating average in Congress.

The full employment bill has been diluted so much in the House that it scarcely retains a trace of its original purpose. The unemployment compensation bill has been definitely sidetracked in the House and the revision bill will return to the United States Employment Service to state control much earlier than the administration desired.

The situation reveals a thorough independent Congress which will go along with the president only when it agrees with him. But more than that it shows that the influence of labor in Congress probably is at an all-time low.

In fact, the House may vote hard curb on labor within the next few weeks. Pending before the chamber is the Smith bill, repealing the Smith-Connally labor disputes act, but linked with a rider that would make unions liable for civil damages where their members struck a violation of no-strike clauses in labor contracts.

This bill may pass the House in its present tough-fisted form. But leaders think it is too severe.

They hope to kill it or revise it in the Senate which has shown a more lenient attitude toward labor than the House.

Anderson Has Aspirations

Talk around the capital is that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has aspirations to fill the vacant post of the president of the United States.

The former congressman from New Mexico some sources point out, has been given a completely free hand in controlling the nation's farm and food prices.

This may be influencing Anderson in his rumored wish to become vice-president, political observers note.

Most all observers agree that the man from New Mexico is politically astute. If Congress succeeds in passing agricultural legislation acceptable to the nation's farmers—with Anderson's help and counsel—it would place him in a strategic position for votes in the next presidential elections.

He would be regarded with favor among farmers of the now strong New Deal.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

HOW TO HANDLE TOT WHO'S POOR EATER

All sorts of irritations to the mother may arise over the tot who plays with his food or throws it on the floor. This most often occurs before the child is two, while he is supposed to be feeding himself.

A sharp smack on the hand may need more than one or two applications to cure this. But unless it is done with great objectiveness, it can complicate eating problems, especially if the child already is a poor eater. Most mothers had better not employ any kind of physical punishment in immediate connection with the youngster's eating.

Quiet No

What should the mother do? Well, if she has educated him to respect No between meals, a quiet No should suffice in any emergency. If the mother is not sure, she should say "No" and then, if necessary, she should remove his food and end his meal. My belief: How to teach the tot that No may be had in a stamped envelope. Show him the connection. Anyway, by the next regular mealtime he must be hungry as not to waste his food around.

Now this dawdling and playing with food may be a sign that the tot wants a particular food or wants to eat more of any other food. Watch for that time so as to be sure the food disappears at the strategic moment.

Remember in this column I have urged the mother of the child who is an eating problem to be guided by this simple rule: Always let the youngster choose whether or not to eat. Let him choose between the very small portion of a particular food before him and nothing. No many mothers have the faith and courage to follow this simple rule.

Unhappy Emotions
A few approach the rule by saying to the child: "As soon as you eat this you may have this. Then the youngster may eat a bit, but for the food and finally win out. All the unhappy emotions over the process hardly cultivate a good appetite for the food he must eat before getting the next.

Instead, the first food is removed as if a mechanical device took it away, the child at 19 months or two years will after a few such experiences be inclined to eat what is offered, provided the portion be very small.

If only the portion offered of one food were a quarter or fifth of what it usually is! Suppose you present a cooked cereal first and he eats only a part of it. Then, if egg is in order, he may have to be denied the egg if you follow the foregoing rule. But if you had served him a quarter as much cereal, he would easily eat the milk he worked!

The child over five or six who refuses to eat certain foods served for the family, especially foods unfamiliar to him, may be trained to eat of every food if allowed to take as small a portion of it as he chooses, so long as it is visible.

These and other eating problems, discussed at length in my special bulletin on this subject.

Republican midwest, observers say, as well as in the Democratic South.

Famed Picadilly Statue Awaits Travel Priority

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—What happened to Eros, god of love, the world famous statue removed from Picadilly Circus at the outbreak of the war, has puzzled Londoners each time they sadly gazed at the boarded up site in the heart of the city.

Today the six-year mystery and the secret was cleared up by Major C. B. J. Athol, secretary of the Incorporated Association of Architects and Surveyors, when he revealed that "Eros" is in a crate awaiting removal to his original site in Picadilly Circus.

The question of priority travel delays his return, the major said, and it is not certain just when he will be restored to his place of honor.

During the war Eros was in sanctuary at Coopers Hill, Egham, Surrey, 21 miles from London. As this was regarded as a safe place the statue was never placed underground.

He has survived the war unscathed, Major Athol added.

Long after the 1914-18 war when Eros was still not back on his site, the sculptor, the late Sir Alfred Gilbert, told me that in spite of many other suggestions put forward he would like Eros restored to his original site.

"His wish was respected," said the major, "but it is still uncertain when that wish will be respected again. Eros will certainly not go anywhere else."

The people of London are as much attached to this god of love as Americans are to the Statue of Liberty, and since VE-Day man, appeals have been made for his immediate restoration.

Pittsburgh Theater Has Baby 'Cry Room'

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—And now comes the latest idea for Pittsburgh theater goers—a "cry room."

When little Johnny or Mary starts squalling during a picture mother just takes the baby into the sound-proof "cry room" and watches the rest of the picture without comment from fellow-patrons.

The idea was developed by James Nash, a Pittsburgh theater owner, and it has been highly successful. Not only is the room used for crying children, it is used by others to amuse themselves while mother enjoys the picture through sound-proof glass. Sound is piped into the big nursery.

Vet Goes Hunting Despite Wounds

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 14.—(INS)—A determined 28-year-old seaman, minus part of his left leg and crippled in his right, did not let his war injuries stop him from enjoying his favorite sport—hunting.

Sitting in a wheel chair, Staff Sgt. Baird Hammel of Florence bagged four rabbits during a foray from England General hospital.

Baird was injured in Germany.

GI Breaks Ankle But Still Wins In Chow Line Race

SHRIVENHAM, England, Dec. 14.—(INS)—After all these years, it finally happened—a soldier really broke his ankle in a wild dash for the chow line.

When the first sergeant of student company "L" at Shrivenham's American university shouted "dismissed" at the reveille formation 330 men broke ranks fast.

T-5 Henry C. Hatzenduehler of 302 West Elmwood Place, San Antonio, Texas, took an early lead in the race for the mess hall but in the mad scramble he was knocked off his stride and crashed to the ground.

Displaying remarkable recuperative powers, he nevertheless succeeded in having his tray in hand first in front of the chow line.

After his hard-earned breakfast he reported to sick bay.

"Well," he grumbled, "I was the first man in the chow line."

T-5 Hatzenduehler was taken to the 231st station hospital where medical men say he may be released in a few weeks on crutches.

Undisturbed by the accident the Texas "chow hand" commented:

"When I am out I'll be right in there plating broken ankle or not. A crutch will come in handy on the corners."

Would Use Surplus Army Trucks To Fight Forest Fires

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Some 40,000 leftover army trucks would go into battle against a new enemy—the costly forest fires yearly taking their toll of America's last big stand of virgin timber in the Pacific northwest—if an industry suggestion is carried out.

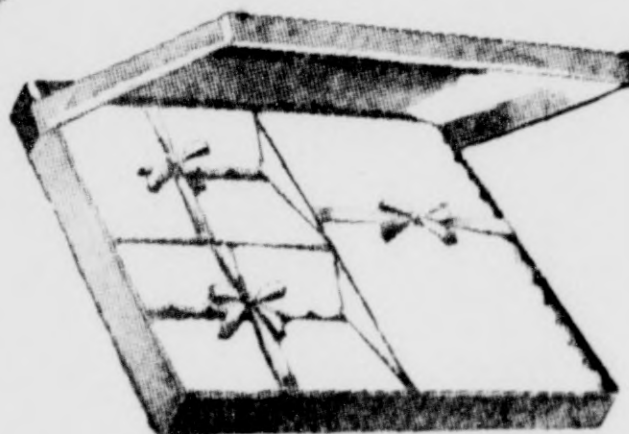

The old army trucks can easily be turned into highly mobile fire-fighting units by welding a simple tank to the body and attaching hoses pumped by the truck engine.

Five states, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and California, are asking for the disused army vehicles to be sold to industrial logging operators for low prices to provide quick quenchers.

But when he dug into the hills he discovered that the spuds were growing all right, forming out of the seed potato without benefit of foliage.

Marcy could only explain it by his storing the potatoes in a copper boiler last fall which he believes may have prevented them from sprouting.

PENDELTON, Ore., Dec. 14.—(INS)—When United States air force planes were blasting Czechoslovak targets during the late war, they did not know that indirectly, they were temporarily putting one of the earliest American industries out of business too. Indians at this year's Pendleton Roundup lamented the lack of beads they once imported from Europe. Now they are informed our bombers busted up bead-making factories which will roll

Contribute Funds
For Sister Kenny

School children, the group of people who are most seriously threatened by infantile paralysis, have been contributing generously to the yellow-covered boxes of the Sister Kenny fund campaign, according to the committee in charge of the drive.

Hillsville school has already stuffed the box to the brim with pennies and silver, totaling $17.63, much to the pride of school principal Mrs. Elizabeth Miller.

Throughout the state, Mrs. Edward Marthin, honorary chairman of the drive, has been receiving splendid support from the Federated Women's clubs which she asked to conduct the drive. In some communities such as Lawrence county, the clubs ask for voluntary contributions, while in other localities they have arranged for benefit affairs. Here, the campaign is being conducted by the Welfare and Community Service service department of Woman's club.

Veterans' Council
Seeks Plan To Help
Veteran Find House

Serious Problem Is Confronting Returned Veterans In Matter Of Adequate Housing

In an attempt to alleviate the housing shortage which is facing returning veterans and their families, a committee from the Veterans' Advisory Council appeared before the board of the Greater New Castle Association Thursday evening to discuss the possibility of coordinating the efforts of the Veterans' groups, the GNCA, the Real Estate Board, and the City Council.

Speaking for the committee, the Advisory Council's executive secretary Jack Preston told the board members that the housing shortage was one of the most serious problems facing the returning servicemen as he tries to reestablish himself in his community. Other members of the committee were Emanuel Shenkan and Albert Holland, city councilman.

This group was appointed by Dr. C. C. Green, chairman of the Advisory Council, at a meeting of the council Thursday afternoon. Dr. Green also authorized the executive secretary to write to the local office of the Veterans' Administration expressing approval of the plan to establish a sub-regional office of the V. A. in New Castle.

The council also announced that any citizen who wished to assist the council by serving on any of the committees sponsored by the council to advise and assist servicemen should contact Dr. Green or Mr. Preston. All such assistance will be welcomed by the council.

Babson Discusses Insuring Against Labor Troubles

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1945, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 14.—People may disagree as to the seriousness of the present labor situation. The fact, nevertheless, remains that labor unions hold the same position of power today as bankers held a generation or two ago.

When I first started my statistical work 40 years ago, the bankers—both of the large cities and of the small communities—had tremendous power to make or break manufacturers, merchants and businessmen in general. This could be done by granting or withholding credit and advising others to follow their example. This power was what ultimately resulted in the government's practically taking over the management of the nation's banking. Now, the bankers' wings have been clipped and a banker is only a businessman like the rest of us.

In those days, labor had very little power and labor leaders were looked upon as "irresponsible bolsheviks." As the power of the bankers waned, the power of labor leaders has increased. Today, many labor unions are powerful enough to make or break any manufacturer, merchant or businessman. Let us hope that labor will consider its power a sacred trust in the interest of the people as a whole. If not, our labor leaders will be dethroned the same as were the bankers. In a democracy, no one group can, for long, abuse its power.

Labor Unions Increase Unemployment

Apart from the abuse of power, labor is fast reaching a point where it will kill itself by over-weight as did the big mastodons of old. Every group throughout history has been subject to Sir Isaac Newton's law of action and reaction, commonly known as the cycle. This is most simply illustrated in the case of prices and production. Prices are high because production is low; increased prices cause increased production, until finally prices break and they are back from where they started. This seems to be a fundamental law of nature.

The unreasonable wages which now are being demanded by certain groups will result in forcing the employers to install more labor-saving machinery. A thousand men may, by holding a pistol up to their employer's head, force an unjustified 15 per cent raise in wages. But in such a case, the employer is forced to install labor-saving machinery and get on with 850 men instead of 1,000. Hence, 150 men are thrown out.

Footproof Labor Stocks
Companies whose labor expense is the smallest proportion of their total expense should be the least vulnerable to labor troubles. The following percentage list speaks for itself: Drugs 10, soap 13, paints 17, food preparations 17, chemicals 20, petroleum refining 24, cement 26, molasses and mining 28, can manufacturing 30, rayon 36, electrical equipment 37, meat packing 38, tires and tubes 39, agricultural machinery 40, machine tools 40, bakery products 41, office and store machinery 41, aircraft 42, locomotives 45, automobiles, steel works, woolen and cotton mills and shoe factories 50.

There, however, are other factors which investors should consider such as how the earnings of a company are affected by strikes. Considering this also makes me conclude that the all-around best hedges against inflation are: (1) banks, (2) insurance companies, (3) utilities, (4) merchandising chains, (5) land companies, (6) realty and rental companies, (7) companies owning patents, (8) finance companies, and (9) companies making labor-saving machinery.

My Cyclone Cellar

If congress does not rectify the present unfair situation, we will have one big national strike when our homes will temporarily be cut off from all conveniences. As a hedge against that day, I am building in my yard a small house and stocking it with canned goods. I am driving a well for my water; am installing underground oil tanks with a good big wood pile; am building a chemical toilet and am insulating the small "hut" against heat and cold. In an emergency, we could continue to sleep in the bedrooms of my adjoining house, but the living, cooking and eating will be in this new little building!

Electrical Workers Cast Vote For Strike

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia today stood at four to one in favor of a strike to enforce their demand for a $2 a day wage increase.

Union officials said that negotiations would continue and no walkouts will be called before January in Westinghouse Electric Corporation, General Electric company or the General Motors electric division.

The vote was conducted in 28 polling establishments by the National Labor Relations Board.

The results follow:
Pittsburgh—295 yes, 102 no; Sharon—1,954 yes, 944 no; Fairmont, W. Va.—1,180 yes, 58 no; Sunbury—138 yes, 66 no; Derry—478 yes, 78 no; Johnstown—15 yes, three no; Mansfield—Six yes, two no.

Hopes Of U. S. Site For Nations' League Are Heightened

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Hopes of supporters of the United States as the permanent site of United Nations organization headquarters were heightened Thursday when Egypt declared itself in favor of an American location.

Egypt's delegate cast the first vote by a middle east state for the U.S. He went further, suggesting that San Francisco be the headquarters.

If this vote indicates the way the other middle east and European states will vote the U.S. might well receive the two-third majority necessary.

Invitation By Congress

When the committee of eight, the general questions committee handling the site matter, convened Adlai Stevenson of the U.S. was the first speaker. He informed the committee of the invitation by congress to the U.N.O.

The Luxembourg representative, Joseph Bech, favored a European headquarters, as did Norway's Erik Colban. The latter said it would be better if the committee recommended a series of sites irrespective of continents.

D. F. Mantulski, delegate of the Ukraine, voted in favor of the U.S. He based his vote on the fact that when Geneva was the center of the League of Nations it failed to prevent war.

Dr. Adrian C. Escobar, of Argentina, voted for the U.S. he, however, that it would be better if discussion of the site was delayed for a time in the hope that unanimity might be achieved.

Navy Bomber Winds Up As Laboratory

LAS VEGAS, N. M.—(INS)—A Navy patrol bomber settled down on the Las Vegas Airport. For the huge plane the airport was the end of the line.

The plane will never fly again. It will become a working laboratory for the students in the Vocational Department of Highlands University. The plane was acquired by the university from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation after it had been transferred from the Navy. A second large plane of another type will join the veteran navy patrol bomber. Both will be used as overall mockup laboratories by the students. Later they will be taken apart and made up into small mockups.

The retired plane is a veteran of three years of active patrol duty with many hundreds of flying hours to its credit.

At 104, Attributes Longevity To Snuff

DUNLEVY, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—To relatives the fact that Mrs. Angela Vail is celebrating her 104th birthday this year is something extraordinary, but to the Italian mother of four and grandmother of 24 it's just 1945.

Despite her age Mrs. Vail is keenly aware of what is going on around her, even though her knowledge of English is limited. She came to the United States after World War I when she was 79 years old. She has never become an American citizen.

The Italian born mother attributes her long life to the snuff she uses habitually, and the highly seasoned ravioli she enjoys.

WORST FIRE SUMMER

Democrats To Meet To Select State Chairman

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Democratic leaders converged on Harrisburg today to select a new chairman, but apparently are in "full disagreement" as to their 1945 gubernatorial candidate.

International News Service was told in Philadelphia by a high-ranking Democratic chieftain that so far as a definite gubernatorial nominee is concerned "we are now completely undecided."

His assertion would completely erase the name of Gen. Carl Spaatz, of Boyertown, from the No. 1 spot for the Democratic gubernatorial candidacy.

"We've now given up hope of persuading General Spaatz to run," the Democratic leader said.

"He is, apparently, more interested in furthering his military career than in entering politics."

General Spaatz, for weeks regarded as the strongest Democratic candidate in the field, has been prominently named as probable successor to Gen. Henry Arnold as chief of the Army Air Force.

May Endorse Guffy

The executive committee meeting in Harrisburg today, he said, probably will "get around" to giving silent endorsement to Guffy.

Next move on the political check-board, however, will center upon the Democrats' gubernatorial choice.

The name of another potential candidate was dropped into the Democratic jackpot when it was disclosed that Rev. Daniel P. Quinn, eminent Philadelphia minister, is being boomed in some sources for the office.

Most vigorous struggle, however, likely will be made by state auditor General G. Harold Wagner, it was said.

Wagner determined to make an attempt to secure the nomination, the spokesman said. His chances, under the present setup, are no better than any one else's, however.

Another strong candidate is expected to be Federal Judge Guy B. Bard, of Lancaster county, formerly attorney general in the Earle administration and later a public utility commissioner.

State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black also has been casting eyes upon the gubernatorial chair, the spokesman said, as has been former U. S. Senator John S. Rice, of Adams county, apparently the leading candidate for the chairmanship.

Charge Nazis Executed Six Million Jews

NUERNBERG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The war crimes tribunal was told today that Nazis deliberately killed six million Jews in Germany and occupied Europe during their mass extermination campaign.

This information was introduced by Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Maj. William F. Walsh in the form of an affidavit from Maj. Wilhelm Hoettl, a former SS officer and assistant to the Nazi security officer.

Four million Jews were killed in various extermination camps in Germany, while two million more were slaughtered by operational units of the security police in planned campaigns.

Insists On Evidence

Counsel for Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the security and criminal police, objected to the introduction of the affidavit when the witness was available.

This point has been made before the defendants.

U. S. Chief Prosecutor Robert Jackson sprang to his feet and insisted that such evidence was perfectly admissible.

"Any other procedure would drag out this trial for seven years," he told the court.

He was backed by the Russian, British and French prosecutors.

Kaltenbrunner's counsel demanded that an affidavit introduced yesterday from Andreas Pfaffenberger, describing how human skin was made into lamp shades at concentration camps, not be admitted as evidence.

REVIVAL MEETINGS TO CLOSE SUNDAY

New Attempt To End Greyhound Bus Strike Fails

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A new attempt to end the 18-state Greyhound bus strike, which has persisted since October 31, apparently had failed today as the companies rejected a government proposal for a fact-finding board to handle the dispute.

R. W. Budd, president of Central Greyhound and S. R. Sundstrom, president of Pennsylvania Greyhound, met with union representatives and federal conciliators for five hours without making any progress toward settlement of the walk-out.

Howard T. Colvin, assistant director of the conciliation service, said "the negotiations will be reopened by the conciliation service whenever there is reason to believe that something worthwhile can be accomplished by such action."

FLU IS INCREASING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The sharpest weekly rise in influenza cases since the epidemic of 1943 was reported by United States public health service officials, but they said 94 per cent of the cases were reported from 11 states.

Total number of cases reported for the nation so far this year is 169,334, compared with 133,781 for a comparable period in 1944.

Ole Dan Cupid Prepares For '46

Bumper Crop Of Marriages
Is Expected Early In Coming Year

MAY GET BACK TO RECORD MARK OF '42

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Ole Dan Cupid is dusting off his bow and arrows today in expectation of a bumper crop of marriages early in 1946.

With two weeks of 1945 to go, Dan already has found his target more times than he did in 1944 according to the statistics of court clerks in Allegheny, Dauphin and Philadelphia counties.

And Next Year—More
And the prospects for next year seem even brighter, with thousands of returning servicemen considering exchanging "single blessedness" for a pipe and slippers.

Nearly four years of war have left their mark on the marriage records, boosting the figures to wartime peaks in 1941 and 1942, and dropping in a comparative slump in 1944. The pre-war high months of May and June leveled off and dropped nearer to average as weddings were planned to coincide with furloughs or home-comings.

Allegheny County handed out more marriage licenses—12,618—in 1941 than in any other of the past nine years. The next year saw a slight drop to 12,134, while 1944 was the lowest year in the period, with only 9,981.

Victory Brought Increase
This year, however, brought an upward surge to more than 11,000 nearer to the 1937 and 1940 figures, out above the 9,273 in 1938 and the 10,908 in '39.

The rate of applications jumped slightly in Allegheny County after V-J day, with approximately 3100 in the first third of the year and more than 4350 in the last third.

Cupid scored 2,045 times in Dauphin County in 1945, with well over a third of the applications—770—made since V-J day.

Dauphin County's wartime high mark came in 1943 and 1940 licenses were issued—nearly double the 1200 in 1940.

Philadelphia also hit its wartime stride in 1942 when 17,138 couples trod the path to the altar. Only about 4200 of these couples made the trek in the first third of the year while 5,357 made the trip in the last third. Business in the marriage license bureau last year was quiet, with only 12,820 issued—a far cry from the 15,475 in 1939.

Navy Men Only
Willard MacDonnell, deputy clerk of the Philadelphia orphans court marriage license division, credited a good number of Philadelphia's wartime applicants to servicemen stationed at the Philadelphia naval base and nearby army installations.

"There have been some days," he said, "when we thought no men were getting married but sailors."

But he assures the ladies waiting, the number of single discharged servicemen seems optimistic, and after all,

"The marriage license bureau never has a 'dull' year."

New Mercury Is Put On Display

Public Attracted By Showing Of
Ford Product At Francis Motor
Sales Rooms Today

Placed on display today for the first time, the new 1946 Mercury car is attracting considerable attention at the show rooms of the Francis Motor Sales company, 825 North Craton avenue, former location of the Chambers Motor company.

At ording to J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising for the Ford Motor company, Mercurys are rolling off the assembly lines of the Ford Motor company's Rouge plant and three branch assembly plants at the rate of 175 a day.

In addition to the Rouge, Mercurys are in production at Edgewater, N. J., Chicago, Ill., and Richmond, Calif.

The new Mercury, Mr. Davis states, has a heavier, lower and wider appearance, resulting from a wider hood and a re-designed front grille. The new grille consists of die-cast, vertical louvers extending across the front. The lines of the hood ornament also have been changed to connote fleetness and beauty.

The United States is expected to enter the postwar period with a merchant marine surplus of at least 30 million tons.

OFFER DRIVING LESSONS

DENVER, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Future generations of Colorado drivers should be better at the wheel than the current crop of motorists, at least if the driver educational programs throughout the state pay off. At present all Denver schools are giving the courses designed to make better automobile drivers, and nearly 200 high schools throughout the state offer driving instruction. Within a year state officials hope to make it mandatory

CHINESE ARMS OUTPUT

CHUNGKING, Dec. 14.—(INS)—More than 59 per cent of the ammunition made available to the Chinese Army during the period when United States lend-lease was in effect was supplied by arsenals and factories in Free China, headquarters of the United States forces in the China theater announced today. The manufacture of arms was successfully undertaken despite the fact the supply of raw materials was limited and transportation for all supplies and heavy equipment had been applied by coxies.

Governor Dewey Opposes Move To Handicap North

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reiterated today that the Interstate Commerce Commission order increasing freight rates 10 per cent on northern railroads is a blow at reconstruction in the north and particularly in New York state.

Gov. Dewey's charge was in the form of an affidavit to a special three-judge U. S. court which is hearing a petition for a review of the ICC order and a request for an injunction to prevent it becoming effective Jan. 1.

Six States Join
Eight other states have joined New York in the suit and four of them have filed supporting affidavits. Besides New York the states involved are New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Those filing affidavits with New York were New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Dewey said the increase "would constitute an important obstacle to the location of new industries in New York state."

He also asserted that the increase would cause a boost in manufacturing costs and this would reduce the possibilities of employment for one million war workers who want peace-time jobs.

Survey Shows Coeds' Vision Is Improving

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Betty Coed is far ahead of Joe Coed in physical improvement, at least in Michigan.

The University of Michigan health service revealed that the eyes of the coeds have shown much more improvement than the male vision, as compared with 1919. In addition, the percentage of women students with good teeth has jumped from 76 to 81 percent, against 69 percent for men.

The survey also showed that Betty's excuse of a "headache" is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Men students reported that serious headaches had doubled since 1919, while coed headaches fell by 40 percent.

From 1930 to the present coeds judged to have "athletic constitutions" have increased from 30 to 60 percent. The men are far down the list—a drop from 43 to 37 percent.

However, Michigan students of today, as compared with those of 1919, are taller, weigh more, have better teeth and posture. At the same time they are more likely to wear glasses, break a bone or suffer from acute appendicitis or pneumonia.

The report disclosed that freshmen have the most common colds, and seniors the least number.

Historians Meet In Discussion Of Science Progress

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Pointing to a technological and industrial emphasis on history, a group of 30 civilian and service historians met recently on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh.

The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the history of developments in the scientific field.

At the moment the greatest activity in this field concerns Army and Navy preparation of histories of the technical development of warfare.

Dr. John W. Oliver, head of the Pitt history department, said this was the first conference of this kind to be held anywhere.

Try Recordings For Oral Exams

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 14.—Eliminating the psychological barrier, Texas university is experimenting with a recording of the instructor's voice in giving oral examinations.

Dr. Frederick C. Elliott, dean of the school of dentistry, says that the presence of an instructor frightens some students, and that with the use of a recording machine, slow and quick students have an equal chance.

Dental experiments will be filmed with a sound-track explanation so a student may hear the same lecture as many times as he pleases, the doctor said.

Sons, Daughter Home, End Army Service

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grieve of 21 Smithfield street are very grateful at having their three sons and daughter who have been in the U. S. Service back home.

Sgt. Ames M. Schaas, WAC, who was stationed at Fort Meyer, Va., has been honorably discharged at Fort Dix, N. J. She had been in service 27 months, much of the time in the Pentagon building at Washington, D. C.

A brother, Sgt. John Grieve of the Air Corps, was discharged at Greensboro, N. C. He had been in the armed forces for three years and overseas in the Pacific for 18 months.

Staff Sgt. Albert Grieve, attached to the Fifth Cavalry, recently discharged, was in service three years, two years of which was overseas in engagements in New Guinea and the Philippines.

Another brother, Tech. Sgt. George Grieve, attached to the Ninth Division, served with the armed forces, being overseas for two years in engagements in Africa, Sicily, France and Germany. He has also been honorably discharged.

NEW YORK.—(INS)—American

ROBBERY ALIBI FAILS PRISONER

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—An alibi that he was "coaxed" into robberies didn't work with Judge G. Malcolm McDonald today in Pittsburgh.

Leo Almaro, 28, told the court that during Pittsburgh's recent produce strike, he was jobless and his children were starving—and James Loele, 24, also of Pittsburgh, talked him into stealing a typewriter.

"Alibis don't work in this court," Judge McDonald said. "I'll give you two to four years to think it over."

Business Survey Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The production of soft coal was recorded in the Pittsburgh area last week, the University of Pittsburgh's Bureau of Business Research today reported.

The weekly summary of business conditions showed the decreases were offset by a further gain in the volume of trade.

The bureau's index stood at 187.0 percent of the 1935-39 level for the week ending December 8; it was 187.7 percent for the week of December 1, and 183.6 percent on December 9, 1944.

Steel mill operations in the Pittsburgh district edged a little higher and blast furnace activities showed little change. Retail buying continued at an unprecedented rate. The report stated.

First Yank In Berlin Awaiting Army Discharge

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The first Yank into Berlin, a full-blooded American Indian, will soon take off the war paint and return to civilian life.

Pic. Harvey Natchez, the first American soldier to enter the German capital, is now at the Port Douglas hospital for treatment while awaiting discharge from the army. He has no plans for his post-time future, except a visit to the Uintah-Curay reservation near Roosevelt, Utah, where his wife, Mrs. Clara Natchez, and their daughter, Millicent Maxine, 2, reside.

The quiet, unassuming Utah has a great many "firsts" in his background. He was the first full-blooded Indian graduate of high school at Bonanza, was the first full-blooded Indian to join future farmers of America and has attended Utah State Agricultural college.

Pic. Natchez, who was a jeep driver for a group of press correspondents, entered Berlin, July 3. Pic. Natchez was in Potsdam at the time of the conference and saw "all the big shots close up."

Military honors won by the Utah Indian include the Silver Star, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster.

The depth of Grand Canyon at Bright Angel Trail to the Colorado River is 4480 feet.

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Sgt. Robert A. Markworth of Portland wouldn't mind going back to the Aleutians where he was stationed two years—but as a fisherman and hunter this time, not as a soldier. Trout and salmon are so thick in the ice-cold little rivers of the islands, the sergeant claimed, that they could be scooped out with the hands.

WEDDING RING SHORTAGE

LONDON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—So many young couples are getting married in England these days that shopkeepers have run out of wedding rings. "We can't make rings," quick enough, and we are having to turn customers away," said the sales manager of a leading London firm today. The letter A represents six principal vowel sounds.

Forgotten Man

One trouble with the theory that buying power can be increased merely by boosting wages is that it forgets the man who doesn't live by wages—

The only effect he feels is the higher prices that sudden wage boosts help bring about.

A large portion of our people do not live by wages. Farmers are a good example. So are doctors, dentists, lawyers and those who run small shops and stores—

Even more seriously affected are people like ministers, teachers and government employees of all kinds—and the millions of men and women living on insurance benefits, pensions or life savings.

Their buying power doesn't go up—it goes down!

As a matter of fact, the rising prices that follow general wage increases tend to eat up even the gains that wage earners seem to have made.

These things are important to consider in connection with the UAW-CIO wage-demand strike against General Motors—

And all the other strikes for sudden wage boosts that are sweeping the nation like an epidemic.

Sees Entire Airborne Army In Future Years

STOUT FIELD, Indianapolis, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The entire U. S. Army will be carried by air within the next five years.

Maj. Gen. Paul Williams, chief of the Troop Carrier Command, said today plans are underway in the War Department and the Army Air Forces to make "every branch, every piece of equipment and every soldier" capable of being hurled into combat on an instant's notice in big new air transports.

Williams said the decision to swing the ground combat arm of the nation's military forces into concentration on air travel was based on lessons learned in the European campaign, on recommendations of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and on the advent of the atomic bomb.

Air Borne Best Plan

"We are confident that nothing can live on the sea in any war the future might bring," Williams declared, "and we aren't even certain everything will be able to live in the air. But we believe air-borne troops have the best chance and we are positive they are the most effective means of swift national defense should we face an invasion."

Williams said the air-borne plan is "definitely set to roll." He disclosed he had recently ended a series of Washington conferences with General Joseph Stilwell and other ranking ground commanders to decide the best methods of streamlining land forces for combat-through-the-air.

He predicted that development of the air-borne plan would make the U. S. Army, regardless of size, the "most mobile in the world."

Return of the 82nd Airborne Division from Germany will signalize the beginning of large-scale troop carrier maneuvers in South Carolina, Williams said. His command projected increasing emphasis on parachute and glider schools.

A peacetime complement of four troop carrier groups totalling more than 250 large transports has been tentatively approved.

Principal purpose of the Army's streamlining plan, Williams pointed out, is to make all types of combat equipment, whether tanks, trucks or heavy construction equipment, transportable by air.

Plans Are Made For R. G. LeTourneau Meeting January 12

At a luncheon attended by members of the Ministerial Alliance in The Castleton hotel Thursday afternoon, Dr. W. L. Taylor, director of the LeTourneau Foundation, New York City, outlined plans for a mass meeting to be held in the Cathedral auditorium Sunday afternoon, January 13, at which time R. G. LeTourneau, industrialist and outstanding Christian business man of Peoria, Ill., will be the speaker. Introduced by Rev. Earl Collins of the Harmony Baptist church, Dr. Taylor stated that Mr. LeTourneau is not interested in starting any new organizations, but is interested solely in the church and its work. He told the group that "R. G." as he is familiarly known around the world, files on the average of 200,000 miles a year, appearing all over the country at his own expense.

Mr. LeTourneau, who operates plants at Peoria, Ill.; Toccoa, Ga., and Stockton, Calif., turns 90 per cent of his profits into the use of Christian work, being sent out through the LeTourneau Foundation, Inc., an organization created solely for Christian purposes. Members of the New Castle Youth for Christ organization will have the privilege of hearing Mr. LeTourneau at their meeting in the First Methodist church Saturday night, January 12.

St. Louis Schools Test Ultra-Violet Ray Lamps

ST. LOUIS—Absence of school children because of colds will be lessened in two St. Louis county elementary schools, if experiments with ultra-violet rays in the classrooms are successful.

Sixty-two lamps have been installed in the Robinson school in Kirkwood. In West Richmond school, Richmond Heights, 14 lamps have been placed in seven classrooms of the kindergarten, and first three grades.

The value of the lights should be determined by the end of the school year through these experiments, Dr. E. G. McGowan, county health commissioner, said.

The old home is at Moville in County Donegal, Eire. As he was in British uniform, the Field Marshal could not cross the border into Eire without risk.

Maze Of Wires Serve As Guide To Blind Farmer

MOORELAND, Ind.—(INS)—That maze of wires strung about the house and outbuildings at the farm home of David Rhoades is not a new-fangled electrical system nor a booby trap.

The 99-year-old farmer strung up the wires in his determined effort to prevent blindness from curbing his usual activities. Blindness did not strike Rhoades until he was 83 years old and the adjustment was not easy.

Now, however, he walks freely about the place, tending his garden in season, building his own fires, cooking his breakfast and spending much time repairing clocks.

The wires, which are just above his head, together with his cane, guide him when he walks outside the house. He also makes trips unaided to Mooreland.

Since 1940, when his wife Susan died at the age of 92, Rhoades has lived alone. The slender, white-haired old man is particularly proud of his ability to make biscuits which "stick to your ribs."

At one time since he became blind Rhoades put a tin roof on his barn.

He blames his loss of sight on clover that blew into his eyes while threshing.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14—(INS)—Pennsylvania cigarette dealers were notified by the state revenue department today that license renewal cards should be issued this month.

Electronic Beacon Aids Navigation

BOSTON, Dec. 13—(INS)—The Coast Guard has made public another electronic device, Racan, which helped the United Nations win the war against the Axis.

Racan was described as an electronic beacon placed ashore to serve as an aid to navigation for surface ships and aircraft equipped with radar.

The Coast Guard said that when a signal from a radar transmitter is received by the beacon the beacon automatically sends out an answering signal.

The response from the beacon is individually coded, serving to identify a particular radar beacon to the navigator.

Gamble To Receive Achievement Medal

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14—(INS)—Ted R. Gamble, national director of the treasury department's war finance division, today was the winner of the Poor Richard club's gold medal award of achievement for 1945.

Roger W. Clipp, president of the club, announced the medal will be awarded to Gamble at the organization's 41st annual banquet January 17 in Philadelphia.

Gamble, head of a string of Oregon motion picture theatres, has spurred all of the treasury's war bond drives.

Clipp announced the award was being made to Gamble "in recognition of his outstanding accomplishments as national director of the war finance division, U.S. treasury, in which capacity he has directed so ably and successfully the largest public financing operations in the history of the world."

'Polecat' Hairdo Latest Zany Fad Of Bobby-Soxers

(By International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 14—Bobby-soxers in Salt Lake City are working hard for a new and different appearance—that resembling the polecat's hair.

The latest of their "zany ideas" is the skunk locks fad—obtained by peroxidizing one lone forelock of otherwise dark hair.

While most of the teen-agers dislike the all-over bleaching idea of a startling bright pompadour is being enthusiastically adopted.

Natural blondes are joining the polecat tribe by bleaching one of their locks even lighter. And more venturesome lassies are considering "red and black" combinations, which device they plan to try some time when their parents aren't around.

"Polecat tresses" are described as chaotic by some of the more conservative bobby-soxers, and even some of those gals boasting the streak of bleached hair aren't sure they like it, but add—at least it's different.

Asked how are the parents taking this "teen-age" fad one girl declared: "My parents were stunned at first—but they're reconciled now."

Urges Cooperation In Preservation Of State Resources

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 14—(INS)—Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell urged upon Pennsylvanians today to cooperate in the maintenance and preservation of the commonwealth's parks and resources.

"Visitors to our parks, our forests and our streams are increasing in numbers every year and the greater the crowds, the harder the wear becomes on our natural resources, more game is hunted, fish taken and more space required for general recreation," Kell told the Lehigh County Fish and Game Protective Association.

"At the terrific speed at which we all are living today, we need recreation, relaxation and the peace the outdoors only can give us," he added.

"The department of forests and waters is preparing, and even now, working toward more and more recreational facilities of all types for these increasing numbers of persons who are once again learning to enjoy nature in the fields, the streams and the forests," Kell said.

PARALYZED DRIVER INVENTS GADGET

HARRIMAN, Tenn.—Justice of the Peace Chester Hamby of Harriman has driven his car 90,000 miles in the past two years, despite the fact that he is paralyzed from the hips down.

Hamby, a former state highway patrolman, sustained a broken back when his motorcycle collided with an automobile in 1939. Since then, he has not had the use of either leg.

Hamby worked out his own method of driving a car without the use of feet or legs. He installed a finger control air brake with booster pump and a hand control gas throttle attached to the steering post. The gadget can be used on any car by attaching a booster to the clutch, Hamby says.

The effectiveness of the gadget is proved by the fact that Hamby passed the state automobile drivers examination.

Sniff, Sniff! How Pretty The Boys Are Smelling Now

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 14.—This Christmas feature was written by Miss Colleen Gibson, Westminster college journalism student, as a result of her observations around the crowded cosmetic counters in city department stores. If shoppers follow this up, the man of the house may be smelling nicer than Christmas pine this year.

If his approach is a little timid, perhaps the reason is that he never bought perfume for himself before. However, the men have really gone in for colognes and powder—for the men—in a big way this Christmas. True, they aren't asking for floral scents; they make it clear to the clerks that they want something definitely masculine. And it isn't the sissy who is doing the buying either but the man the women refer to as the "rugged male."

The stores must have anticipated the rush because they are ready to fill almost any request. The specialist clerk first puts the bashful six-footer at ease by showing him a heavy china shaving mug of cologne. He is practically convinced he has a right to buy it if he wants. It certainly was not made for the feminine customer.

Maybe the man behind the counter has managed to find out he is an avid football fan. She brings out "Plinkin" cologne in a brown oval container. If he happens to be a hunter she supplies "Big Game" in a tan and red bottle.

Sometimes the customer has nothin' special in mind and the clerk takes over with a display of colognes to suit every taste. "Top Hat" or "Manhattan" is for the sophisticated, "Woodhue" for the outdoor type, and "Seaforth" for the man with a yen for the water.

"Two Cigarettes," "Boots and Saddles," and with redwood chests of crisp clean cologne are for the men, and no mistake. If he doesn't want cologne, she can provide twin jugs of real porcelain containing

George E. Watters Jr. Ends Naval Service

Having been granted his honorable discharge at Sampson Separation Center, N. Y., on December 12, George E. Watters Jr., pharmacist mate 3-c, has arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Watters, of 618 East Washington street.

Ph.M. Watters served thirty-seven months for eleven months in the Pacific area. He was attached to the Second Marine Division, Sixth Regiment, Second Battalion, and has been located at Okinawa, Saipan, Guam and Nagasaki, Japan.

He has been awarded the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with one Battle Star, Victory Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal.

George Jr., is a graduate of New Castle high school class of 1941, and prior to joining the armed forces, was associated with his father in the monumental business.

If baking powder is thrown on a small fire it will put the fire out because the heat will decompose it producing carbon dioxide, while the acid salts themselves will fuse and coat the burning materials thus smothering the fire.

Women's Hats Made Of Oak

ALEXANDRIA, La.—The old gag about making women's hats out of just anything is mighty near true—particularly in Louisiana where one imaginative designer fashions smart chapeaux from white oak strips.

Sixty-year-old John Leavines uses a hatchet, a knife and one-inch strips of the wood, and turns out hats. He got the idea when he was weaving white oak baskets.

Leavines has lived all his life between the tiny hamlets of Soper and Orléans, in the hills about 25 miles southwest of Alexandria. The white oak he uses in his new industry grows all over the South.

His first effort was too small, had little shape and was of too coarse material, but it set him on the road to the nifty headgear he now produces.

Hat-making is a lengthy process, he explains. First you find a white oak with as long a "cut" distance between the roots and the tree's first branches as possible. Then you split the trunk into bolts with a hatchet. The hard handwork begins when you split strips from the bolts with a pocket knife.

"You can split white oak till it's thin as paper," he declared, and produced a translucent piece of wood to prove it.

When he gets the strips as thin as he wants them, he works up a sheen with sandpaper. Then, with all the material ready he can begin weaving the hat.

His hats—and he makes them for men as well as women—are comfortable, cool, durable, water resistant and good looking.

He's even added a synthetic resin finish which makes them waterproof. He can put his hat in a rain barrel overnight, shake it out the next morning and wear it to town.

FIVE HAVE CLOSE CALL

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Five persons narrowly escaped being burned today when a fire broke out in their home.

Grant Injunction Against GM Pickets At Cleveland Plant

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Common Pleas Judge Frank S. Day of Cleveland granted the General Motors Corporation a temporary injunction today restraining CIO-United Automobile Workers Union strikers from interfering with other employees at GM's Fisher Body Plant in Cleveland.

Terms of the order were not to be set forth by Judge Day until later this afternoon.

The temporary injunction was granted after Judge Day had heard arguments from opposing counsel. Attorneys Luther S. Day and Walter T. Kinder for GM, and Sam Gruff, attorney for Local 45, CIO-UAW, the union specified in the petition filed by the corporation.

The petition charged that Local 45 members had prevented 600 of five workers from entering the Fisher Body Plant Tuesday.

A hearing date was to be set later by Judge Day on a motion for a permanent injunction.

Tag Day For Mission Christmas, Saturday

NE hundred young ladies of New Castle will be on the streets of the city from nine in the morning to five in the afternoon Saturday, December 15, and all of them armed with a quarter-sized coin container. By five in the afternoon it is hoped to have the one hundred quarters filled with coins for the Christmas dinner and party to be held by the City Rescue Mission.

Rev. D. R. Wert, superintendent of the Mission said today the plans for the Tag Day were completed and all that was needed now to make it a success was a lot of coins in the containers. Mrs. John H. McIlwraith has been named the supervisor of the girls and with her will be several other young women of the city who will check the various stations where the girls will be located, see that they get in for lunch and see that they are relieved.

Farmer Injured; Forearm Amputated

John Kerner, 30-year-old farmer of R. D. 1, Petersburg, O., was seriously injured on his farm Thursday evening about 7:30 o'clock and was rushed to the New Castle Hospital, where amputation of his left arm above the elbow was necessary. The young man caught his arm in the corn feeder machine, while performing his farm duties, and was unable to save it from being mangled.

Hospital authorities report his condition as fair this morning. His father also lost his arm in exactly the same manner, sometime ago.

The New Zealand government has bought 30,000 acres of farm land for ex-servicemen to settle on after the war.

Crack Down On Axis Diplomats

TOKYO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The supreme Allied command cracked down today on Axis diplomats in Japan, many of whom have had comparative freedom of movement since the occupation began.

Some, including the confidential secretary of the Nazi propaganda chief in Japan, Count Durnheim, have even been employed by the American army.

A directive from General MacArthur ordered the diplomats and other Axis nations restricted to the areas in which they are living and maintained on the standard Japanese ration system.

Two Sentenced In Forker Case

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—Two northern Ohio youth who had pleaded guilty to a federal charge of juvenile delinquency in an extortion case were sentenced Thursday to three-year terms.

The sentences were imposed by Federal Judge Emrich B. Freed on a 16-year-old McDonald, O. youth and a 17-year-old Warren, O. youth.

The sentences will be served at a place to be determined by the bureau of prison. Judge Freed recommended a federal correctional institution at Washington.

John Kane, chief assistant district attorney, said the youth admitted being members of a group which attempted to extort $75,000 last October from Henry P. Forker of Sharon, Pa. They sent a letter to Forker on October 17, demanding $50,000, and followed it on October 24 with a letter demanding $75,000, he said.

Remove Snow From Washington Street

Snow which fell downtown last night was moved by the city streets department plow to the curb then removed by employees who shoveled the snow into a truck which hauled it away.

Before noon practically all the snow along east Washington street between East street and the public Square had been removed from the curb. During the night an emergency crew placed ashes wherever slippery conditions were reported.

Convicts Better Off In Prisons

Neither the Salvation Army nor the State Parole Commission has been able to fulfill one of the vital requirements for parolees—that they have a home to go to.

Marie McDonald To Seek Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.—(INS)—"The Body," Actress Marie McDonald, was home with mother today and a divorce from Agent Victor Orsatti was in the offing.

"It's a case of two people making each other unhappy," she said of the break-up of their marriage. "I'm much too fond of Vic to let our marriage develop into a series of quarrels and nagging scenes."

"I'm going away for a little while and when I return I'll file suit for divorce. I'm not asking for one penny of alimony."

It will be the second time that Orsatti has been divorced by an actress. Prior to his marriage to "The Body," three years ago next January 10, he was married to June Lang.

Electric Chair May Replace Guillotine Now

PARIS.—(INS)—Ever since 1789 Madame Guillotine has been the legal means of execution of France. Later, however, a controversy has been raging over scrapping the guillotine in favor of the electric chair.

The latest opinion in the discussion comes from Dr. Paul, who has been a doctor in the Paris law courts for 40 years.

"I have been obliged to attend more than 600 executions in the exercise of my profession," declared Dr. Paul, "and I can tell you that every single one caused me infinite sorrow."

"Believe me, whatever the means, to see a man die is always a frightful thing."

However, if indeed the electric chair can bring death more quickly than its introduction in France is desirable. That is the sole concern in the matter. But I may add, I personally do not believe execution is a punishment or a deterrent.

Despite the great miracle of the guillotine which has so profoundly affected our century, easy death is still something that exists only in the realm of fancy.

It was another French doctor who devised the gun instrument of execution used in France. His name was Joseph Ignace Guillotine. He first recommended the use of the guillotine to the Constituent Assembly in 1789 in the French Revolution and the subsequent reign of terror.

Army Releasing Civilian-Type Surplus Goods

Surplus Goods Worth 400 Million Offered By Government To Public

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—War Department spokesmen told the Mead senate investigating committee today that the army is releasing immediately 400 million dollars worth of civilian-type surplus goods.

Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall gave the committee a list of 200 million dollars worth, including 12,000 trucks and a large quantity of tractors and iron piping. The army men said the other 200 million dollars worth still is uncompleted. It includes considerable potential housing for conversion to civilian use.

The 400 million dollars worth of goods—much of it unused—will be channeled through the surplus disposal agencies at once, the officials told the committee.

Royall and members of the army supplies reserve board headed by Gen. Courtney Hodges appeared before the committee to answer criticism that the army has been slow in getting needed civilian goods declared surplus.

Federation Sides In With Coaches

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The AFL-Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers today stepped into the Steel City athletic coaches' fight for overtime pay.

President S. F. Stratiff said the federation opposed curtailment of athletics and that extra work should be compensated, by extra pay. He added:

"Athletics are morally and economically profitable investments for any community, especially in view of the recent FBI statement that juvenile delinquency is increasing."

Stratiff added that he believed that taxpayers would not object to the additional cost.

Nazis In Batavia Taken By British

BATAVIA, Dec. 14.—(INS)—British troops, reinforced by fresh units, rounded up the Nazi leader of Batavia's German community and 100 Indonesian Extremists today in a prelude to the first unofficial peace talks between Dutch and Nationalist leaders.

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, announced he had delayed his scheduled departure for Holland so that he could begin discussions with Indonesians.

Dr. Van Mook said he was not anxious to publish the details because of their unofficial nature. He added he would report on the situation to his government. He is scheduled to leave Batavia tomorrow.

In response to a question, Dr. Van Mook said he had heard nothing of an impending visit to Batavia by an official American observer.

The acting governor declared he thought it best to settle the Indonesian controversy through direct discussion rather than submit it for settlement to the United Nations organization. He asserted "International society had not yet found unanimity in its own ranks."

Admiral King Is Given Gold Star

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—President Truman today decorated Vice Admiral Ernest J. King with the Gold Star of the Distinguished Service Medal.

The president read the citation and praised King highly for his brilliant operation of the United States Navy during the war.

King was accompanied by the five top commanders of the armed forces—Gen. Marshall, Eisenhower and Spaatz and Admirals Leahy and Nimitz.

Woman Swings Axe, Half Of Gregory's Head Comes Off, But Gregory Lives

DAYTON, O., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Gregory lost his head—literally but not figuratively.

In fact, Gregory seems to feel better without it.

Gregory is a rooster. He had been a sick little rooster, so his owner, Mrs. Halle Hathaway of near Lebanon, decided last Sunday to put him out of his misery.

So she swung the axe.

Maybe she had her eyes closed. In any case, off flew the head, or most of it. Gregory flopped to the ground, then flapped up and was away. He's been strutting about since, doing his best to crow about it. The best he can manage without a head, however, is a slight, almost apologetic cough.

Gregory's situation has its advantages, too. Instead of pecking chicken feed he now rates patrician egg-nog, fed through his esophagus with an eyedropper.

Dr. Harry Cornett, veterinarian, said the base of Gregory's brain is intact as well as the large jugular vein. The rest of the head just ain't.

A similar rooster, out in Colorado, is valued at $10,000 by its owner. So far Mrs. Hathaway has not placed a price on Gregory's head—or lack of it.

Bean stew may be on the Christmas menu for those Nazi war criminals. For dessert, we have an excellent suggestion—generous cuts of humble pie.

One nice thing about pickpockets—they never touch you for a loan.

Jeeps Too High In Price, Sales Not Very Brisk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—World War II veterans aren't including jeeps in their Christmas shopping lists—the $732 ceiling price is too high.

A surplus property administration official told a senate military subcommittee today that comparatively few veterans have shown interest in the 10,000 jeeps offered them as surplus.

He said the preference ordered for ex-GIs as potential jeep buyers doesn't mean a thing, at least at the present ceiling price.

Despite the supposed affection of former jeep lovers for their versatile vehicles, he added there is doubt that the jeep business will be as brisk among discharged service personnel until the prices come down.

Bandits Rob Store In Sharon Of $650

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—State police today sought three armed, masked bandits who held up a grocery store, locked 10 customers and clerks in the basement, slugged a woman customer and escaped with $650.

While one bandit headed the group into the basement, another guarded the door, slugged a customer who entered while the holdup was in progress and the third forced the woman manager to open the safe.

The bearded culture flies at a height of 20,000 feet, we read. He must be wondering these days what ever became of all those B-29s he used to see.

Testifies 330 Men Acquit Marine On Charge Of Arson Trapped In Sleeping Quarters Below Deck

Ensign Testifies In Court Martial Trial Of Commander Of Sunken Indianapolis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Ensign John Woolston, of Seattle, Wash., testified today that at least 330 men lost their lives on the Indianapolis when they were trapped in sleeping quarters below decks in the vicinity of the two explosions which sank the cruiser.

Woolston made that estimate at the request of the courts. He was recalled to the witness stand at the court martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay III, skipper of the Indianapolis.

The witness was a repair officer aboard the cruiser and one of his duties was to make periodic inspections of the vessel.

Rear Admiral Wilder D. Baker, president of the court, indicated Woolston was a key witness when he stated that he believed the ensign had information "pertinent to the charges."

Trapped In Sleeping Quarters

Woolston estimated that between 250 and 300 men were in the three forward sleeping compartments at the time of the tragedy. In addition, he said about 30 men were on water and patrol in that area.

Thus Woolston indicated that the 330 men had no chance to survive because the two explosions made a shambles of the forward part of the vessel.

Previous witnesses had testified that the forward sleeping compartment were swept by flames following the explosion, which prevented rescue parties from reaching that area.

Woolston's estimate was based on knowledge of the number of men sleeping in the forward area and the total of more than 800 who jumped into the water during the 15-minute period that the Indianapolis remained afloat.

The vessel had a total complement of 1,196 officers and men, and only 316 survived. Thus, approximately 880 were believed to have lost their lives in the water after the ship went down.

Battered Veteran Likes The Army; Plans To Re-Enlist

Survivor Of The Bataan Death March Decides To Stay In Service

INDIAN TOWN GAP, Pa., Dec. 14. (INS)—Sgt. Raymond J. Biggins of Philadelphia is a "J-man". He was wounded by a Japanese dive bomber, walked the 90 tortuous miles of the Bataan death march and was imprisoned for 42 weary months in O'Donnell, Cabanatuan and Bilid prisons. Biggins is at the Indian Town Gap separation center.

The unique designation identifies him as a soldier who served with the Army prior to the surrender of the Philippine Islands in May 1942 and was either taken prisoner or evaded capture.

As a J-man he may write his own ticket. So he will re-enlist.

Has 104-Day Furlough

He is entitled to 104 days of temporary duty at his home or an alternate 90 days and then two weeks at a first-class hotel with two dependents—all at government expense.

And wonder of wonders, he has the privilege of using a staff car to travel to his destination or he may request an transportation.

But Biggins is a soldier. Among other medals he wears the Purple Heart, the Philippine Defense Ribbon and battle stars for Bataan and Corregidor.

Likes Army

"I like the Army," he said, "I'm going to re-enlist."

He made no reference to the horror-filled days in Nip prison camps. He said nothing of beatings, privation and lack of food. But he did say he liked the Army.

It is said that Napoleon used aluminum tableware when the metal cost $345 a pound.

Baby Thrives In Home-Made Insulated Box

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 14. (INS)—A crib-sized enclosed box in the home of Professor and Mrs. B. F. Skinner, of Bloomington, has become the center of a new wrangle between "modern" and "old-fashioned" parents.

Prof. Skinner, a member of the Indiana University psychology staff, and his wife designed the small "home within a home" for their baby daughter, Debby. The young lady has lived within its comparatively germ-free confines for more than a year now and probably will use it for a portion of each day until she is three years old.

The controversy began shortly after publication of an article by Prof. Skinner in a national women's magazine describing the enclosed insulated box with one side glassed in.

Debby's "home" has its temperature and humidity regulated electrically so that the baby may play and sleep in no clothing other than a diaper. The bottom of the enclosed "Baby Tender" is tightly stretched canvas, kept dry by warm air.

A sheet which operates like a roller towel, covers the canvas. The glassed-in side permits constant observation of Debby's behavior.

At present, the child stays inside her little home for all but six and one-half hours which represent time when she is fed, washed and played with. Later the Skinners expect that she will use the insulated box only for sleeping.

Professor Skinner argues in favor of the "Baby Tender" that the child has above-average health and has never had a cold, and that she seemingly likes her "home." The mother's tasks also are fewer.

Van Buren Holds Three Pro Records

Star Of Philadelphia Eagles Set Three Records During 1945 Pro Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 14. (INS)—It wasn't the fault of Steve Van Buren, the speedster from the Bayou country, that the Philadelphia Eagles were nipped in the chase for the eastern division crown in the National Football League.

The former Louisiana State star today held three individual championships, one of them setting a new record, as he captured the ground-gaining, scoring and kickoff handling titles in the pro circuit.

Final official statistics for the 1945 season showed that the Eagles' 200-pound left halfback closed out the regular 10 game schedule with 832 yards in 143 attempts from scrimmage. That was just 33 yards in front of Frank Akers, fullback of the Washington Redskins, who finished a game ahead of Philadelphia for the eastern championship.

The children charged Miss Luthman with depriving them of the "support, maintenance and paternal care" of their father.

Mrs. Johnson obtained a decree of separate maintenance last November 2 and Johnson was ordered to pay her $140 monthly for the support of the children.

The children range in age from 15 to one year. Each seeks $25-900.

Miss Luthman is general manager of the Forest City Bank.

Historical Initials

Run In Smith Family

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 14. (INS)—The initials V-E and V-J and the historic dates they represent mean a lot to the James S. Smiths of Trenton.

The Smiths have two sons in service, both in Germany—one of their initials is V. J. and the other V. E. Three others of their eight children have J. E. and D. as in D-Day for initials.

As for the way these dates hook-up with the family history of the Smiths, D-Day came on the wedding anniversary of the parents. V-E day came on the oldest daughter's birthday. The war with Japan ended eight days before their son V. J.'s birthday and the official V-J day came eight days after the birthday of another son.

As if to represent the three important victory dates, the Smiths have three daughters.

American Firms

Given Warning

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. (INS)—The State Department Thursday reiterated its warning to American firms not to meddle in the political affairs of Latin-American republics.

The department completed its investigation into charges that the Ambrosen Engineering Corp. of New York was involved in a plot to overthrow the government of Ecuador. An official announcement stated:

"Results of the investigation completely justified the department's action in emphasizing to the company its opposition to such political activity."

Ecuador cancelled a road-building contract with the corporation, charging that the firm was implicated in an anti-government plot.

Germans Jam Movies To See American Films

Carefully chosen American films are being shown the German people in some 10 theaters now open in the western district of the United States zone of occupation.

Germans are now jamming showhouses to see such titles as "If I Stood With Eve," "Goldrush" and "You Were Never Lovelier." Other films in a more serious vein, are intended to explain the United States to former Nazis. Among these are "The Tennessee Valley Authority," "Democracy in Action," "Steeltown" and "Cowboy."

The pictures, provided with German subtitles, were chosen by the Office of War Information in cooperation with military authorities.

Col. John B. Stanley, in charge of the film program in the western district, says the yardstick in selecting them is to give "a fair view of American life, neither idealizing our democracy nor emphasizing certain securities."

When Goebbels headed the German propaganda machine, Stanley pointed out, "he selected the most ridiculous series to be found in several hundred American newsreels and combined them into sequences which gave a completely distorted notion of life in the United States."

The films now being shown the German people are intended to entertain and at the same time to correct the lopsided view of America given by the Nazi propaganda ministry.

Twenty-five additional theaters are to be opened weekly in Germany according to an accelerated schedule prepared by the army's information control division.

State Police 40 Years Old

Anniversary Is Being Observed During Week—Other State News Notes

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania State Police will celebrate the 40th anniversary of its organization December 15.

Former Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker approved legislation in May, 1905, authorizing organization of the force. On July 1, 1905, John C. Groome, of Philadelphia, was named the first superintendent of the state police. . . . Of the 238 men comprising the four original troops, only Commissioner C. A. Wilhelm remains on active service. Members of the original unit, all of whom rode horses, wore helmets resembling the headgear of London's famous "Bobbies".

During the past two score years, only four men have headed the commonwealth's world renowned law enforcement agency. . . . George F. Lumb of Harrisburg was acting superintendent in 1919 when Groome served in the armed forces during World War I. . . . Lynn G. Adams, a native of Susquehanna county, Pennsylvania's "hard boiled" cop, was named superintendent March 1, 1920. . . . Adams served until ousted by ex-Governor Earle in 1937 when the General Assembly changed the name of the organization to the "Pennsylvania Motor Police" and Percy W. Foote was named commissioner. . . . Foote served for two years. . . . Wilhelm was named acting commissioner January 25, 1939, and four months later Adams was reappointed by former Gov. Arthur H. James. Wilhelm was named commissioner January 20, 1943. . . . In 1943, the force was renamed Pennsylvania State Police. . . . The authorized strength of the force is 1500 men but it currently can muster only about 1060.

The state revenue department has reported that 21 pedestrians 65 years of age or older were killed in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania. . . . We must not forget, however, that the youngsters under 15 years of age, too, are heavily involved in the department said. . . . From January 1 to October 31, a total of 151 youths under 15 years of age were killed in motor vehicle accidents in the commonwealth, the agency added.

The state planning board has emphasized in a weekly report that "any further wasteful use of soil and mineral resources can only be at our national peril." The board said the time to guard Pennsylvania's remaining resources had "unmistakably" arrived. . . . "The new world, once an untapped reservoir of energy and raw materials, has contributed so much to the development of the mechanical age and the materials of modern warfare that today the world's largest reserves of oil, coal and timber are no longer to be found on American soil," the board said.

The department of forests and waters has reported that it has received applications for more than 1,000,000 tree seedlings for planting next spring. . . . Secretary James A. Kell said seedlings sell at $2 per thousand while transplants—smaller seedlings, which have been transplanted—sell at $5 per thousand. Kell estimated that about 5,000,000 trees will be available for distribution including red pine, white pine, larch, black locust, white spruce, hemlock and black walnut.

Donald Richberg Attacks Truman's Labor Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Donald Richberg, early New Dealer and once general counsel for NRA, has labelled President Truman's "fact-finding" bill as worse than useless in settling labor disputes.

Squarely backing the Ball-Hatch substitute, Richberg called the administration bill "part of a machine—like a bicycle with a wheel left off, and no pedals."

Instead of making strikes unnecessary, Richberg charged the measure sponsored by Sen. Ellender

"D. La. will make strikes more necessary than ever and more difficult to prevent and harder to settle."

Effective legislation, Richberg declared, must "mean a machinery of collective bargaining, aided by government mediation, voluntary arbitration and public fact finding, when these are needed."

RAILROAD MAN KILLED

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Harold Summers, 23, a Pennsylvania Railroad laborer of Gallitzin, was killed today when he stepped in front of an east bound freight train, his body was dragged for several yards.

British Reprisal Is Made Against Indonesian Town

BATAVIA, Dec. 14.—(INS)—British planes and troops virtually wiped the Indonesian village of Bekasi off the map in reprisal for the mutilation and murder of four British airmen and 18 British Indian soldiers on Nov. 25 by Indonesian fanatics.

The announcement of this action was made by an official British spokesman, who declared that the village, 12 miles east of Batavia, had been razed.

Only the prison and a few stone houses were left standing after British troops with tank support set the village afire.

A column of black smoke, at least 1,000 feet high and still rising, can be seen clearly from Batavia.

From 400 to 500 villagers were rounded up and held under guard

Indict Blader In Amberson Slaying

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—William E. Blader, 18-year-old student at the University of Pittsburgh and an apostle of Nietzsche philosophy, was indicted Thursday for the murder of Frank M. Amberson, a Pittsburgh confectioner.

The fatal shooting climaxed an early morning tussle behind the Carnegie Music Hall in the fashionable Schenley Park district.

Blader admitted he shot and killed the 35-year-old business man. The Pitt student told police that he killed Amberson after he had made several "passes" at him and warned Blader to submit to immoral acts.

In 1941, the last year before the outbreak began in the United States, 33,500,000 new tires were used by passenger cars.

Shortage Of Teachers Not Yet Relieved

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Only 200 mid-term college graduates were available today to supplement Pennsylvania's depleted teaching ranks in public schools.

Dr. Henry Klonower, director of teaching education for the Department of Public Instruction, said only 40 per cent of the normal number of student-instructors were available from February classes and predicted the war-induced shortage would continue until next fall.

"There will not be enough new graduates entering the field to make any impression on the general situation," he stated.

"While there should be quite a few teacher-veterans available for the second term, the flow back into the profession is not sufficient in volume to relieve the situation," Klonower declared.

Switch To Other Fields

He said very few discharged service men and women had returned to their posts and expressed the opinion that many others were switching to other fields or taking "postwar vacations."

Those who are returning or taking teaching jobs for the first time are holding out for posts that offer the most to them, whereas in the past, school boards could afford to be particular about their appointees," Klonower said.

"For that reason, our greatest need is still in rural sections," he added.

Klonower said approximately 4000 posts currently were filled by temporary instructors teaching under wartime emergency certificates.

"They are vacancies insofar as teaching standards are concerned," he explained.

He said many of the instructors certified during the emergency had had no college training while some of them were not even high school graduates.

Approximately 59,650 instructors were listed in contrast to the more than 61,000 enrollment prior to the war.

Completing Plans For War Memorial

SOMERSET, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Plans for Somerset's memorial museum and community center are being completed, Charles F. Uhl, president of the Somerset County Historical society, announced recently.

It will serve as a memorial to the county's veterans of all wars.

The memorial is to be built east of the town on three acres of the historic Coffee Springs farm. The plans call for a large museum building, a full-sized replica of a pioneer's cabin, an early barn with colonial farm equipment, together with the Coffee Springs farmhouse, which contains the cabin of Harmon Husband, among the first settlers in Somerset county.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take chances with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly relays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Police Seeking Vandals Who Cut Telephone Wires

GROVE CITY, Dec. 14.—Police are puzzled by an unusual crime wave here. In the past five weeks, telephone wires leading into six local homes have been cut, for no apparent reason.

Wires at the S. L. Coleman home, Railway avenue, were cut twice in a month. A neighbor, Frank Stuck, reported similar vandalism, as did James Black, 416 Flower avenue. Police have records of four other reports of this nature in the past five weeks.

Newly fallen snow enabled police to track someone who had been peering into the Coleman home, and had cut the wires, but the trail was lost.

City Employees Are Paid By Check

Very little money is kept in the office of the city treasurer and wherever deposits in banks are made officials of the treasury department are accompanied by armed police.

Another protective method which is in effect at the office of B. N. Hanlon, city treasurer, is that all city employees are paid by check.

Employees of the city receive semi-monthly checks and officials receive their salary check once a month.

Labels Nazi War Against Jews As Greatest Crime

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Maj. William F. Walsh told the war crimes tribunal Thursday that the Nazi mass persecution and annihilation of Europe's Jews was the greatest crime in history.

As the New Yorker solemnly read descriptions of mass murders, a sudden gust of wind blew open all the courtroom windows. Military police hastened to close them as the startled defendants looked uneasy—almost as though heaven had signalled its disapproval.

Recounts Process
Walsh recounted the process of Jewish persecution from 1933 to 1938, including the Paris murder of German Embassy Secretary Ernst von Rath by young Herschel Grynszpan.

The Nazi used this as a pretext to stage widespread riots against the Jews in Germany. Military police also revealed secret instructions sent to all police headquarters by "Hans" Heinrich Heydrich, outlining the terroristic measures to be used against the Jews on the fateful night of November 10, 1938. Looting was banned, but destruction of Jewish property, burning of synagogues and seizure of businesses were ordered.

Heydrich promised that no Nazis would be arrested for disturbing the peace and said he had the backing of Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

Systematic Murder
Walsh traced the systematic murders of hundreds of thousands of Jews by the Nazis throughout Europe and stated that after the notorious ghetto in Lwow was destroyed by fire.

WILKES-BARRE—The army of bootblacks plaguing the city, prompted Mayor Con McGee to issue regulations banning them from places such as bars, grills and restaurants.

Expect Speedup On Bill To Provide Housing Ceilings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—President Truman's three-way move against the housing problem was expected to result in a speedup by the house banking committee on a bill providing ceilings on old and new housing.

Mr. Truman by executive action called for establishment of such ceilings, ordered establishment of priorities in building materials and the release of surplus army and navy housing for use of home-hungry war veterans.

At the same time, the president named Wilson Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, Ky., as housing expert.

President Truman termed the pending housing legislation "essential if we are to avert further skyrocketing of home prices."

Mr. Truman directing that as first step toward easing the problems of homeless veterans and their families army and navy branches and dormitories suitable for such use be made available through states and communities. Temporary housing built for war workers also will be available.

Murray Charges Economic Data Being Concealed

Congress Not Likely To Enact Labor Legislation Before Christmas Vacation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—CIT President Philip Murray charged today that vital economic data is being concealed from the American public while the nation is heading with "terrifying speed" toward a financial crash.

Murray told the house labor committee that President Truman's "cooling off" period during which fact-finding boards would investigate labor disputes "must be born either of a complete lack of understanding or a complete hypocrisy."

The CIO head was the last of the witnesses invited to testify before the house committee which has been holding hearings all week on the administration's "cooling off" bill. Following Murray's testimony the committee was to vote on whether to continue the hearings next week or terminate them and begin considering legislation.

Even before the committee acted, however, an administration leader declared that "there isn't one chance in a thousand" that Congress will enact labor legislation before it adjourns next week.

Murray told the house committee that workers in the motor and steel industries have already "cooled off" those in General Motors for 60 days before they went on strike and those in the steel industry 90 days during wage negotiations.

NEW LENS AIDS EYES

SOUTHBRIDGE, MASS.—(INS)—The American Optical company has developed a new sun glass lens which prepares the eye during the day so that it can see better at night. The lens transmits only 10 per cent of visible light at the same time absorbing glare and dangerous invisible rays which prevent the eye from adapting itself to darkness. Now being used by the Army Air Forces, the new glasses will contribute later night driving and flying.

Dual Personality Angle In Slaying Of Frances Brown

Psychiatrist Says "Slayer
Had Dual Personality,
In Brutal Apartment
Murder"

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The killer in Chicago's fantastic lipstick murder mystery was branded by a psychiatrist today as "dual personality" who thrust a knife into his victim's throat as a symbol to satisfy a strange quirk of mind.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Orlando F.
Scott, expressed his statements in an interview while police still sought the slayer of the victim in the case
—Miss Frances Brown, 33-year-old stenographer and former Wave.

Miss Brown was found shot and stabbed to death in her tiny indoor bed apartment in the Pine Crest hotel Monday. The killer left a note in lipstick on the wall saying "For Heaven's sake catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

Dozens Grilled
Now, more than 100 hours later, police still sought the killer, trying to close in before the slayer could run out the macabre boast to kill again or, perhaps, commit suicide.

More than half a dozen suspects were questioned, then cleared. Reflecting sort of a hysteria generated in the public mind by the bizarre killing, three suspects, one of them a woman, were ready to implicate themselves until police stated they could not have been at the scene of the crime at the time.

Dr. Scott, former instructor in the medical department at Northwestern University and also a member of the American Society of Military Surgeons, said that the killer, whether a man or woman, was suffering from a sex psychopathia, effeminate touch.

He added that the slayer was either a woman or a man with effeminate tastes.
"Certain touches in this murder clearly bring out the telltale characteristics of the effeminate," he explained. "For example (1) The actual use of lipstick as a means of transcribing a message; (2) The expression for heaven's sake! and
(3) The fact that Miss Brown was not raped."

Medical Cases Discussed At Regu-

Hospital Staff

Well attended meeting of the Jameson Memorial hospital staff was held, Thursday evening in the hospital with Dr. D. L. Perry of the medical service in charge of the program.

Plans for the future welfare of the hospital were considered and then two cases were presented for discussion.

The first was on infectious hepatitis, and the second on arteriosclerosis with complications. These were thoroughly discussed by the staff physicians.

Special guest attending was Capt.
Roger W. Rowland, president of the board of directors of the hospital.
A lunch was served to the group after the program, January 10 is the next meeting.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—(INS)—General Motors announced that UAW picket lines were relaxed today at four plants in three states to permit return to work of office and supervisory personnel.

The union's international headquarters confirmed the report but asserted that the withdrawal was not forced by the corporation's decision to start injunction proceedings against alleged "illegal picketing."

The union said that non-striking workers were permitted to enter
GM plants in Flint, Mich., Janesville, Wis., and Linden, N. J., by separate and unrelated agreements between the company and the individual local.

Each local, a spokesman explained,
has complete jurisdiction on matters dealing with picketing.

Team Here Tonight,
Good Prelim

New Castle basketball fans for the first time in several years will have a "looksee" at the famous Westminster Titan quintet, this evening at the "Y" floor when Coach Grover Washabaugh brings his colleagues to this city to play the New Castle Church League All-Stars.

The preliminary game will start at 7:30 o'clock with the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity team of Westminster teaming with the House League All-Stars in the first game. Bob Washabaugh, son of the Titan coach and a returned war veteran will be in the Sigma lineup.

Dembinski To Play
Coach Washabaugh consented to bring his team here for the game tonight to keep them in shape for their collegiate card that will find them idle until December 31 when they will play Akron University at the "Rumber City." The Titans have won three and lost two to date—defeating Juniata, Tech and Akron Goodyears, and dropping to Oklahoma and Akron Goodyears.

Of particular interest to the fans will be the appearance here of the sensational Chester Dembinski, the freshman center from New Kensington who has played a great game when called on to fill-in for Fred Payne, the aging regular center. Dembinski has amassed a total of 46 points in the five games he has participated in and is one of the leading scorers in the district.

Returned Vets Play
Opposing the famed Titans will be at least five New Castle young men, former New Castle High and semi-pro stars who have only recently received honorable discharges after serving in the armed forces, including Eddie "Bus" Strausbaugh, Joe Cooper, Bob Pizer, Johnny McGary and "Socks" Roussos. Others who will play are "Bus" Davis and Elmer Wainio from the championship Epworth team, Russ Remaley, Sammy Bullano, Bill Jamison, Chuck Rea, and James Snow, all well-known floor performers.

Bringing Entire Squad
An admission fee of 25 cents is being charged for the games it was announced by Jimmy Dart, former Slippery Rock College star and boy's secretary at the "Y" who may be in uniform tonight himself.

Coach Washabaugh has announced that he will bring all of his stars here for the game, including Captain Chris Wagner, Don Heddleston, Che Dembinski, Dean Nelson, Jay Cochran, the latter a brilliant young guard from Gary, Indiana, and Fred Payne, the regular center, who has had the "flu" but is now back on the squad.

BYRON NELSON BACK
FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Byron Nelson's lay-off from tournament golf ended today as he teed off with a field of nearly 100 professional and amateur players in the $10,000 Fort Worth Open.

Other high ranking pros entered were Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret. Nelson took a two-month vacation when the continuous tournament grind began to wear him down. He had finished in the money 101 consecutive times.

Wrigley Favors Los Angeles Over His Chicago Cubs

Gum Magnate Would Rather Sell
Cubs Than His Holdings
On Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The Los Angeles Examiner yesterday quoted baseball club owner Philip K. Wrigley as saying that he would dispose of the Chicago Cubs, rather than the Los Angeles Angels, and transfer his headquarters to Los Angeles when the Pacific Coast League attains major league status.

"I know it would be impossible to own franchises in two major leagues," the gum magnate told the Examiner in a long-distance telephone interview. He meant that it would be impossible aside from the fact that baseball law would compel him to drop one of the other of the clubs.

He agreed for one thing, that it wouldn't do for two Wrigley-owned teams to meet as opponents in a world series, a possibility if he retained his present holdings.

Cleveland Team Slight Favorites Over Washington In Title Game Sunday

BY FRANK R. SNYDER
International News Service Sports Editor

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 14.—(INS)—When the Cleveland Rams and the Washington Redskins battle for the National Football League championship in Cleveland's water-front stadium Sunday, fans will see the two best-matched teams in the league.

From any angle it should be a cocker of a game, and may not boil down to a passing duel between the Rams' Bob Waterfield and the Redskins' Sammy Baugh.

Waterfield-Baugh
It is just as likely to turn into line play warfare which might leave either opponent hanging from his goal post before the game ends.

And a less-touted player may emerge as the star of the game, with the defensive emphasis on stopping Waterfield and Baugh.

Two Cleveland ball players, Fred Gehrig and Jim Gillette, received only passing mention during the season, but they chalked up better rushing averages than all other players in the league. Either is capable of breaking up a ball game with a long run.

Edge Given Rams
As a counter measure on the ground, the Redskins have Pullback Frank Akers, a potent, crashing runner who was the Washington workhorse this season.

If either team is ruled an edge, it must go to the Rams. They boast a pleasant mixture of youth and experience, and the Cleveland club has held a 19 to 0 exhibition victory over the Redskins.

Once, both teams have come a long way since then, but take it from Coach Adam Walsh, the Rams will not be caught flatfooted at so late a date and with so much at stake.

Baugh Best Passer
If Sunday's game should be played mostly through the air, Washington may get the better of it. Baugh is a veteran who is top with or without the chips down. Waterfield, a rookie, has been stopped this season twice by the Philadelphia Eagles, once in an exhibition.

Whatever happens, both passers will have top receivers as targets. Baugh will have the Will O' the Wisp Steve Bagarius, while Waterfield can set his sights on lanky, sticky-fingered Jim Benton.

To assure a dry field, Manager Chas. Walsh, brother of the Rams' coach, purchased 9,000 bales of straw to cover the gridiron.

However, Clarence Munn, University of Michigan line coach, was believed to be the leading candidate for the job.

IN SPORTS' LAND

SPORTSMEN assert a fox is one of the most difficult of killers to trap. Some hunters own good fox traps and it is possible that before the winter expires many fox will have been shot because the animals held chiefly responsible for the poe game season. Glenn Johnson who was with the air force two years but who returned in time to win the starting quarter back role at Michigan State this season has been named student member of the school's athletic council. Jimmy Joyce pulled down $4,000 for his bout with Jack Groves at Minneapolis last night.

Les Leasure, local boxer, hopes to be in boxing condition within a month and may appear in The Arena. Wendell Morrison, former basketball player who has been with the Coast Guard several years, enroute to Philadelphia for discharge, having arrived from the Pacific on the West Coast. Lt. Harry Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Davis, has arrived in Seattle from the Pacific and expects to be home to eat Christmas dinner the day following Christmas. His brother, Warrant Officer Norman Davis, also expects to be home at that time from the ETO.

Local basketball scorers can realize the task that confronts the official scorekeeper of games in which Marquette park. There are two Myers, Bob and Don, both guards, and two Wiesner boys, George Ken and Guard Hank. Willie McMullen, John Moore and Thomas Lynch have caught as many throws as some catchers have caught third strikes. Greene Predicts Big Fight Boom In Coming Year

National Boxing Association President Sees Fight Game Making Progress

(Abel J. Greene, president of the National Boxing Association, which governs boxing in 23 states and is affiliated with several foreign governing boards, explains in the following article plan of his organization for the coming year.)

BY ABEL J. GREENE
President, National Boxing Association
(Written especially for N. S. S.)
PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 14.—Having hurdled the perplexing "dualism" which had for four years stymied progress in the aesthetic end of sports, boxing peers into the bright future of the coming year.

Borrowing from Broadway, the outlook is terrific, carried to the superlative degree.

New Stars Born
With old familiar names restored to active ring status, and the bright prospect that out of the war's maelstrom, new stars will flash across the scene, we may envision a boxing business revitalized in the country's sports life.

Box office magnetism is as essential as it is in any other enterprise. But it must not be the No. 1 consideration, because when the golden calf is the only lure, sport goes out the window and the worshippers of arena pay a nefarious price.

So it is the aim of the National Boxing Association to reintroduce into boxing in 1946 the elements which have combined in the past to make it a major fan-interest sport. In 1945, boxing clubs broke all box office records, but they did it not because of the quality of attractions, but in spite of it and because of the inflationary qualities of the fan's purse.

Aims Outlined
Principal aims in boxing for 1946 will be:
1. Uniform scoring rules across the country to eliminate the present patchwork pattern of every state with a different setup.

2. A more extended NBA with all states affiliated.

3. Elimination of dual championship claims, with unanimous recognition of the title-holder in each class.

4. Discouragement of inroads by gamblers who inject their nefarious practices among officials and among ring participants.

The National Boxing Association intends to see these aims through to accomplishment.

WALKER GIVEN PLAQUE
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(INS)—James J. Walker, former mayor of New York City, Wednesday was the first non-boxer to be awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque.

This trophy is awarded annually to the person who in the opinion of New York boxing writers, has done the most for boxing during the year.

Walker was the father of the boxing law in New York state, and always has been a red-hot ring fan.

Walsh Eulogized By Elmer Layden

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football League, said Thursday he was in accord with the selection of Adam Walsh of the Cleveland Rams as the league coach of the year.

Layden eulogized Walsh for his stellar work in bringing the league's western division title to Cleveland. This team has made major league football history, Layden declared.

"Any team that beats both the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears twice in one season certainly has done that,"

All-Star Game Set New Record
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Auditors for the 1945 All-Star football game reported today the contest had set a new record in the series for receipts and profits.

The net proceeds were $82,085.46 as compared with $78,018.35 for 1944, the previous high year. The proceeds were divided between the Army Air Force Aid society and the Chicago Service Men's centers.

The game was played at Soldier Field the night of August 30, and was won by the Green Bay Packers over the College All-Stars, 19 to 7.

May Charge $50 For Ringside Seat

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—(INS)—If the long-awaited Louis-Conn heavyweight title bout eventually comes to Philadelphia, it'll probably cost about $50 for a ringside seat.

Leon L. Rains, chairman of the state boxing commission, told International News Service.

"They charged $27.50 for the Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1926. We feel that this one, what with the money these days, should be worth $50 for a ringside seat."

Flu Epidemic Puts Damper On Contests

The flu epidemic knocked out two basketball opponents for Juniata College this week as Gettysburg and Susquehanna were forced to postpone engagements with the Indians because of illness.

This will wind up Juniata's Christmas season with a record of two wins out of three starts behind them. The Redskins will play their next match on January 9 when they meet Dickinson on the Carlisle court.

Kerr En Route To East-West Game

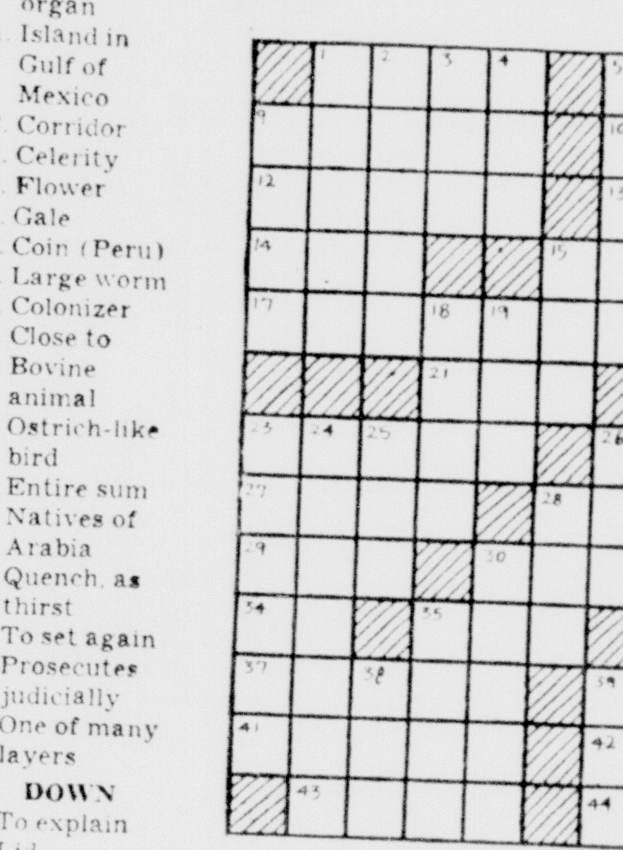

CORRY, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Football players from eastern colleges predominate on the All-East team which will take part in the annual Shrine Bowl classic New Year's day in San Francisco.

The team with six Pennsylvania players on the roster was announced in Corry Thursday by Council Andy Kerr, of Colgate at the annual high school football banquet.

Kerr is on his way to Chicago where the squad will assemble before departing for the Pacific Coast.

Although I offered the definition originally, I am not certain that it is altogether just. The use of any narcotic is forbidden by Federal law. So that's that."

"But what about a tonic that has been prescribed by a veterinarian and that may contain a drug, harmless in diluted quantities, but travelable in the blood stream? Is the use of X-ray forbidden? Would it be possible to give a horse oxygen or helium inhalators and remain within the code? Is the feeding of sugar concentrate, with its energizing effect upon the heart and nervous system, illegal? I believe in the sharpest sort of restriction and

Hundred Million Nazi Mines Still Buried In France

PARIS, Dec. 14.—(INS)—More than a hundred million German land mines are still buried in France and today, according to the ministry of the interior in estimating de-mining operations will take at least three more years.

Despite intensive clearance activity, only five million mines have been removed during the past six months.

Thousands of acres of farmland are still unproductive because of the suspected presence of German munitions. Several of the French Atlantic ports are not yet in full operation because of unexploded mines.

Over a hundred Frenchmen, frequently children, playing in the fields—are being killed annually by stumbling onto hidden booby traps.

In the north of France, twenty-five thousand German prisoners are working constantly to clear the Breton and Norman coasts. Two thousand French civilian engineers are working with them, yet the work is slow and dangerous. France will not be cleared of mines until at least 1948, according to official estimates.

Twenty special technical schools have been established in France to train men and women engineers monthly as the clearance work must be expanded. By a shortage of instruments and tools is the most limiting factor.

To get the most palatable results from cooking dried beans or peas, keep the heat low and simmer instead of boil. Watch the pot, and add water from time to time for beans, take up considerable water as they cook.
